Éadaoin Quinn is JCSP School librarian in Enniscorthy Vocational College, Co Wexford. She was one of the first librarians to join the JCSP Demonstration Library Project in 2002 in her hometown when she set up the library in Presentation Secondary School in Warrenmount, Dublin 8. Previously Éadaoin worked in her alma mater Trinity College, briefly holding the title of “Superintendent of Book Stacks”! She has worked on archaeological excavations and is always grateful for the community employment scheme that started her out on her career path. Recently she graduated with a Postgraduate Certificate in 21st Century Teaching and Learning. She loves her job, describing it as great fun and a privileged position. The highlight is running extra-curricular activities; creative writing clubs and training the school cross country running team.
